

Operator Training

Your operators play a critical role in your machine performance. Help maximize the life and efficiency of your equipment with operator training from STERIS. Proper instruction and experience can reduce machine downtime and can help extend the life of your investment. STERIS's program allows new equipment users to learn best practices from the OEM and can be performed as often as needed to ensure all new employees are confident in operating your equipment.

Training Outline

Led by an experienced STERIS Service Representative, this training will cover topics from the operator manual, including:

- Safety
- Equipment components
- Alarm identification
- General operation
- Test cycles

For more information on our Equipment Service options, please visit us at:
sterislifesciences.com/services/on-site-customer-training